ESTIMATES ON LEVEES MADE

33,000 Cubic Yards of Earth Must Be Moved

WORK AWAITS BUDGET

Engineers Confer Soon on Cost of Project

Survey of levee conditions surrounding the town made recently under the supervision of the city engineer's office show a total of 33,000 cubic yards of earth to be moved to bring the walls to a mean height of 10 feet.

Figures showing the amount of dirt to be handled were released yesterday afternoon by City Engineer J. O. Herpin following the completion of that phase of the survey.

Conference Soon

Estimates on the cost of rectifying the canal bank through the city have not yet been started, but a conference will be held between the city and government engineers stationed here relative to this improvement soon, possibly the latter part of this week.

The meeting with the federal engineers will determine the type of retaining to be used in the work, it is believed, and other forms of retaining will be taken under consideration, preparatory to the city engineer's recommending one to the city commission.

Amount of Work Needed

Figures submitted by Assistant City Engineer C. N. Beasley, at the conclusion of the levee survey here showed the necessity of hauling 8,500 cubic yards of dirt to bring the height of levee along the canal to 10 feet.

To raise a wall from Woodworth boulevard to Blinn Bend road on the canal would necessitate hauling 6,000 cubic yards of material. Practically the same figures would hold for the construction of a wall on Woodworth boulevard to Proctor street along the south side of Proctor street to Blinn Bend.

To connect the wall at this point with the levee near the abutment along the Beaumont road will call for the handling of 15,000 cubic yards of earth.

Work Awaits Budget

Other places along the levee which are below the level sought by the city engineer's forces could be filled by shovels and work crew, the city engineer said yesterday.

Work on either the rectification or levee raising project, however, will not be started until after the budget for the next fiscal year is approved, it was understood at the city hall yesterday.

42 DIE AS LAKE FLOODS MINE

Trapped Like Rats With No Chance to Escape

CROSBY, Minn., Feb. 6.—Forty-two men were known to be dead today as a result of the flooding of the Mifflord or Ida Mae iron mine, near here.

Trapped Like Rats

The miners were drowned like trapped animals when the bottom dropped from a small lake tapping one of the workings yesterday.

With a roar "like a thousand racing automobiles on a distant road" the lake dropped into the workings of the mine, drowning the helpless workers in a rush of slimy sand and mud.

Within 10 minutes the waters had risen nearly to the top of the main shaft and today were covering over the walls of the main entrance.

Six Escape by Luck

The entire day crew of 49 men was in the mine a few seconds before the disaster and six men owe their lives to a lucky "skip" or rest period which brought them to the top just ahead of the rushing waters. A seventh man escaped.

Everybody Knows About Love

BY LOVE EDITOR

LOVE flourishes as well in cold weather as it does in balmy. Roses may be nipped by the frost and fade away, but love, clouds may lower and hide the sun, but there's plenty of it in the heart that feels the divine impulse.

Now you might not believe all this, but if you saw my mail bag this morning—

Love, what is it? I'm getting a sea of good definitions to the question. Everybody, with few exceptions, seems to have a pretty definite idea of it. They all agree that nothing would be much worth while without it.

It's pretty hard to take a ray of sunshine and analyze it and reduce it to mere words, especially twenty. So I'll admit that it is pretty hard to take the love emotion and try to describe it and define it. But, folks, it's being done! It's being done!

This shows that there's a lot of people interested in it. Most of them speak from experience. But once in a while we find some one who is inclined to scoff. But you watch—

BANQUET

Mrs. L. G. Rafter, soprano, will sing a solo, accompanied by Mrs. T. J. Truener, pianist, and Mrs. Mildred Jones will give a reading. At the close of the entertainment program, the meeting will be turned into a dance, post officials said today.

German Embassy's Slur at Wilson Is Sensation of Capitol

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Washington police today removed an American flag from above the door of the German embassy where it had been nailed following embassy officials' refusal to honor Woodrow Wilson's passing by displaying the German emblem at half mast.

The embassy was under heavy guard this morning, pending a promise that the German flag would be half-masted at 12:30 p. m.

Slur at Wilson

The opening announcement by the embassy that, upon instructions from the Berlin government, no honors such as the half-masting of the embassy flag, would be accorded the late President and the sudden change of this decision to an announcement that the flag would be put at half mast after 12:30 o'clock today, has caused a sensation in Washington.

Apparently the earlier decision that the flag would not be put at half mast was meant as an open mark of antagonism to the name of the late Mr. Wilson, for no attempt was made at the embassy to hide this decision and the fact that instructions to this effect had been received from Berlin.

Stupid Diplomacy

Official and diplomatic circles here today generally held that the flag incident was one of the most stupid diplomatic blunders that Germany has committed since the war.

Members of congress, incensed by the affair, were preparing to deliver vituperative attacks on Germany for its attitude and had served notice that it would be impossible to get through congress any contemplated measures for German food relief.

Skies Weep With Thousands Who Line Route of Procession

Only Chosen Few Hear Words of Ceremony At Home and in Small Chapel of Cathedral; Body Laid to Rest Temporarily

BY LAWRENCE MARTIN

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Wilson lies at rest.

The grave today enfolded his body: the hearts of his countrymen enshrined his memory.

Under mourning skies that dropped gray rain, they carried the warrior chieftain this afternoon through the gateway called Peace, and laid him down to sleep.

The drip of rain from tree branches; the rustle of oak leaves clinging to their boughs, a sob in the crowd, the far off boom of a gun, the solemn cadences of a bishop's voice—these marked the hour.

Typical of His Work

Above his narrow bed arches the great unfinished structure of the National Cathedral, typical of his unfinished work, but going on to completion, as his faith told him his work would go on.

At 3 p. m. in the quiet home where Mr. Wilson died on Sunday, the voice of his pastor, the Rev. James H. Taylor, of the Central Presbyterian Church, broke the funeral silence.

"The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want."

Through the familiar words of the psalm he moved, to its climax, breathing hope and peace.

"And I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Prayer for Wilson

In the deep hush rose a voice in prayer. It was Rev. Sylvester Beach, who was Mr. Wilson's spiritual adviser in the days of his presidency at Princeton University.

"O Lord, Jesus Christ, we beseech Thee to comfort Thy servants in their present sorrow; and as Thou didst send the Holy Ghost to be the Comforter of Thy People; strengthen them by the manifestation of Thy gracious indwelling, that they may be enabled to contemplate the joy of that better home, where Thou art ever seen and worshipped as the Light and Satisfaction of Thine elect, who dwell with the Father, in the unity of the same Spirit, one God, world without end," he prayed.

Mrs. Andrew Johnson has returned from Marlin, where she attended the funeral of her brother, John I. Clawson, Mr. Clawson, who was formerly an employee of the Gulf Refining company of this city, died in El Paso after a lingering illness. He was 27 years of age and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Clawson of Marlin. Relatives in Port Arthur surviving Mr. Clawson besides Mrs. Johnson are two brothers, A. R. Clawson of 1020 DeQuincey boulevard and F. W. Clawson of 1617 Seventh street.

FREEZE AND FROST VISIT PORT ARTHUR

Freezing temperature accompanied by a killing frost visited the outlying districts of Port Arthur last night and early this morning. At the government thermometer the mercury registered a low mark of 24 degrees, but one tube in the outlying district caught the temperature at 21 degrees. The position of the government gauge atop the postoffice is given as the reason for the variance in temperatures, by weather observer Ernest Carson.

O'CONNOR NAMED TO SHIPPING BOARD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President Coolidge today designated T. V. O'Connor of Buffalo as chairman of the United States shipping board succeeding E. P. Farley, Chicago, whose resignation was rejected by the senate commerce committee.

SLIGHT DAMAGE DONE TEXAS CO. STILL

Damage of minor consequence yesterday afternoon was sustained to a big pressure still at the Texas Company when a thump started in a pre-heater.

An ambulance was rushed to the plant from the city, but no one was injured.

General Superintendent F. P. Dodge today stated that the damage done would be comparatively small, if any.

TRIAL OF CREAMERY IS PUT OFF TODAY

Trial of the Neches Creamery company's manager on charges of pure food violations was postponed when it came to trial today in Corporation court. The creamery is charged by O. L. Baker with selling milk in Port Arthur without a permit, and two violations of the pure food law.

TWO BOYS HELD IN THEFT OF TIRES

Recovery of four tires and three inner tubes, alleged by P. O. Ray of 1905 Houston avenue, to be his property, was affected yesterday afternoon by Detectives Brown and Threlkeld.

Two boys were arrested and may be charged with the theft of the accessories, it was said by Brown today. At noon no charges had been filed.

Fort Bend County Stills Are Raided

HOUSTON, Feb. 6.—Notorious moonshining activities in Fort Bend county, adjoining Houston, were broken today following a sweeping cleanup raid on the county Tuesday afternoon and night.

Prohibition agents working out of Houston struck the county at several widely scattered places with the following results:

Stills smashed, 7.

Mach destroyed, 7550 gallons.

Whisky destroyed, 167 gallons.

Men arrested, 6.

CALOMEL RELIEVES THE BACKACHE

Tests with Pepsinated Calomel, the new English Calomel treatment, have shown that it is one of the most powerful stimulants to the kidneys which we possess. While not intended primarily for the treatment of kidney diseases, yet it exerts a powerful influence upon these organs and promptly relieves backache due to the kidneys, by stimulating both the liver and kidneys, thus aiding them in removing the waste matter that is causing trouble. If your back aches most of the time, or if you are troubled with constipation or biliousness, try Pepsinated Calomel on the positive guarantee that you will be relieved or your money returned.

Hart Drug Co. and all reliable druggists recommend and guarantee Pepsinated Calomel as being "relief between urination and micturition" or your money refunded. Try it—we guarantee you'll feel better tomorrow.—Adv.

MRS. D' BOUCHEL 'DISAPPOINTED'

New Orleans Beauty Fails to Collect Balm

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 6.—Mrs. Onezima De Bouchelle, New Orleans beauty, was on her way home today "surprised and disappointed" and without any of the half million dollars she sought as heart balm from the wealthy Asa G. Chandler.

A jury in federal district court here late yesterday returned a verdict denying Mrs. De Bouchelle any damages on the grounds that she is still the legal wife of Adolphe Boquet, from whom she secured a divorce decree in Reno, Nevada.

"The jury in this case for technical legal reasons was afforded no opportunity to condemn Mr. Chandler and punish him for his inexcusable attack upon my character," Mrs. Bouchelle said after the verdict. "An attack so inexcusable that upon the trial of the case he offered no witness to sustain his reasons for breaking our engagement and his counsel openly admitted that no attack of any kind could be made upon me."

Chandler's only reply to his "sweetheart" was that "I am very happy. I have no statement to make."

CHICAGO STILL IS SNOWBOUND

Kansas City Warm Up; New York Escapes

The American Telephone and Telegraph company reported no wires in any direction except to a few nearby points in northern Indiana and Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

The Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies reported a very limited service.

A light snow was falling here this morning.

KANSAS CITY RECOVERING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 6.—Rising temperatures and clear skies gave relief from the storm which has swept the midwest since Sunday. The mercury reached 3 above zero during the night, but indications were that it would warm up rapidly today.

Street car service was again nearly normal here, although many trains were still "lost" and wire communications interrupted.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE EARTH BRINGETH FORTH FRUIT OF HERSELF; FIRST THE BLADE, THEN THE EAR, AFTER THAT THE FULL CORN IN THE EAR.—MARK 4:28.

The Editorial Mind

However,
Odds and Ends and Comments on Our Morning Mail

Every state in the union, without exception, favors the Mellon plan of tax reduction, according to the Literary Digest poll, first results of which, including figures to January 23, are given in the current issue of the publication.

Of the 107,145 total votes received in the straw vote plan of determining which way the wind blows, the results divide them:

Favoring the Mellon plan (yes) 57,533; opposing the Mellon plan (no) 10,505. Texas: yes, 53; no, 23. The figures above are the first preliminary of the nationwide poll.

Texas, thus far, apparently is somewhat indifferent in a matter which every one, it would seem, should have some definite conviction. The proposal for tax reduction on the face of it carries a significant appeal. No one wants to pay more taxes than they can get away from.

One reason, of course, for the average Texas attitude might be that the nationwide poll is simply a poll and nothing else.

Its results will be no definite settlement. This is one of the arguments against straw vote reflecting average opinion. If a man is struck by the straw vote idea, he will respond to it. If he is not, he won't, no matter what his convictions are.

The Digest comments on the interrelation of the tax reduction with the so-called bonus. While a great majority, some 99.44 per cent of the answers, were filed as sample "yes" and "no," in the minds of a large number of people it was difficult to refrain from elaborating the bonus issue because of the fact that Secretary Mellon has a tax reduction, or vice versa.

The American Legion has pointed out that the bonus opponents, a term which may be applied to tax reduction proponents, generally speaking, have deliberately foisted a misconception on the public mind. There is, it claims, a definite demarcation between the words bonus and adjusted compensation. One is a gift. The other is simply a matter of provision where provision is due. The Legion declares that Mellon's figures have a twist to them, that adjusted compensation can be provided for without interfering with the tax reduction program.

There is no attempt here to make the issue controversial. Rather it is an acknowledgment of two sides to a question which just now is being foisted in a political sense.

Socialized bonus advocates. The Digest says, are especially strong in the industrial and far west. The east, on the other hand, whether through any real or fancied financial supremacy, but recognized individual wealth supremacy, is overwhelmingly for the Mellon plan.

Interest taken in the poll by ex-service men cannot be determined except from post-script remarks attached to the ballot, since there was no provision for inserting numbers. The vote asked being one of plain yes or no.

In Port Arthur there is apparent lack of interest in the tax cut because of the relatively small reduction which would accrue to small income tax payers. There is little individual wealth here and no large incomes. Also there is not the other extreme. The condition is a whole lot better than it was a few years ago. Superior in income, order, place, where individual wealth on one hand is met by examples of extreme poverty on the other.

Least year nearly 3,000 income tax returns were filed in Port Arthur. Few were for relatively high incomes. Figures, of course, are not obtainable on the average income on which taxes were paid, but financial men have estimated the amount at $25.15. This, however, is for the last little better than a year. Some increase is expected this year, commensurate with Port Arthur's rapid growth.

It is a matter of some significance of the issue which is expected to be a main bone of contention in the major party campaign this year that the Digest has expended, for postage alone, $399,000 in order to find the trend of national sentiment on Mellon's tax plan. Some 15 million ballots were mailed out. This is the largest number by one third in any similar national poll. Not all of them will be returned. Perhaps a thousand or more of them have found their way to Port Arthur. The expense, too, of canvassing the vote will be large. A huge effort force being necessary to segregate the results by states in order that the area of highest interest and the result may be established. It should follow the center of population.

The tax break will be freely wielded in the national campaign. Republicans and Democrats alike are out there at the results of the Teapot Dome naval oil lease investigation. The results of the investigation are a little obscure to the average man, but little times are being reflected in the news in the senate chamber, only called for, the time being, in the result of the Woodrow Wilson death. So the tax issue, one of the most important, may be called a position in the limelight of the campaign.

DENBY CONVICTS ACTION IN SIGNING. AWAY TEAPOT DOME BY OWN WORDS

Port Arthur is the world's greatest refinery center. Millions of barrels of oil are refined here yearly to find their way to earth's four corners. Revelations in the senate committee room and in the senate itself, investigating irregularities in the disposal of the Teapot Dome naval oil leases by former Secretary of the Interior Fall and present Secretary of the Navy Denby, are of sensational interest. We are remote from the center of scandal, but we do know the value of oil. Port Arthur sees it shipped to every part on the globe.

There are, therefore, pertinences attached to the investigation of the manner in which Doheny and Sinclair were delivered the huge naval reserve reservoir belonging to the United States navy.

Did Secretary Denby deceive navy officers when he sought to persuade them that the transfer of naval oil reserves would be wise?

Admiral Latimer, testifying before the House Naval Committee, Jan. 31, 1923, said:

"Mr. Denby told me that he had initiated the transfer after investigating the question and consulting with various experts. On Oct. 25, 1923, Secretary Denby testified before Senate Public Lands Committee as follows:

"SENATOR WALSH: I want to go back for a moment, Mr. Secretary. You told us that after taking office you ascertained about the drainage of the reserves. From whom did you get the information?

"SECRETARY DENBY: I can not tell you. It was general information. Exactly how the matter came up I do not know.

"SENATOR WALSH: You cannot recall that any officer in your department told you about it?

"SECRETARY DENBY: No. I am confident that I did, and that I sent for the charts and looked it over, and came to my own conclusion about it. I am trying to give you, now, my very best recollection on the subject. There were one or two outsiders, whose names I have no idea of, who came . . . and told me there was a waste of oil."

It appeared also in the testimony in the Walsh Committee that Admiral Griffin, who had charge of the naval oil matters at the time the secretary initiated his new policy, had written a memorandum going into the matter at length and protesting against the transfer or leasing of the reserves.

It appeared further that when Assistant Secretary Roosevelt presented the matter to President Harding, Admiral Griffin's memorandum of protest was not called to the attention of the president and was not included in the papers laid upon President Harding's desk.

Denby told Admiral Latimer that he had consulted experts. Two years later he testified that he talked to one or two outsiders whose names he had no idea of.

What's the answer?

PORT ARTHUR AND CLERKSHIPS

The pre-election ball is rolling in Jefferson county. Have you been solicited yet to accept appointment as a clerk or stenographer in a county office?

Don't give up hope. There is still a chance.

It's this way. Beaumont has kept a stranglehold on county elective jobs for years. We have no grievance with them for so doing. It has been done in hundreds of county seats for years and the nation has continued to move on. It would continue to move on if every county office was filled with a Beaumont man. But it is bad precedent. So it seems proper at this time to inject a little word stating the situation.

No doubt the campaign will be a sizzling one from the standpoint of numerosity of candidates to each individual office.

If Beaumont puts Port Arthur clerks in county offices, to and behold. We are saved. We have nothing to rave about from the standpoint of recognition. Hasn't Beaumont treated Port Arthur right by appointing some one to a small salary to do all the work?

Stare unity. Figure it out for yourself.

IN THE DITCH

Four years ago Warren T. McCray of Indiana was the leading farmer and livestock grower of the Hoosier state. He had the finest herds on his fifteen thousand acres to be found in Indiana and was president of several banks.

Farmer McCray invaded the political arena, was elected governor, has been at the top of the political ladder for some time but the trip was a costly one. He has lost his herds and his broad acres; he has lost his banks and their depositors; he has been plastered with judgments by federal and state grand juries and now he may be adjudged a bankrupt.

He was a magnificent farmer, a rotten failure as a political financier and administrator and he may land behind the bars before he comes to the end of the lane. This makes honors even. Jack Walton was elected governor of Oklahoma by the democrats and then landed in the ditch, unwept, unhonored but not unused. McCray refuses to resign, Indiana lawmakers can not get together to remove him but when he does get out of the office of governor he will not have enough money in his pockets to flag a bread wagon.

He blames the deflation policy of the government, inaugurated by the Wilson administration and carried to a successful finish by the Harding administration.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. C. C. Robinson

Sometimes, as a benefit to the depleted system through wasting disease or as a result of seasonal habits, a change in diet becomes necessary. But change in diet must not be entered into haphazardly. It should be made only upon the advice of your physician, if serious impairment of your health is to be avoided.

One may not be in the right physical condition to stand a change in diet, without careful preparation. But he may not be aware of this condition. If anything should go wrong the changed diet is to blame and not the careless action of the individual concerned. One is simply counting trouble to institute a complete change in diet without knowing the actual body condition, through a careful examination. Often people regard a change in diet with no more concern than a change in clothes.

In the changing of any diet, special care must be given to the fats. These are not only a source of heat to the body but are very important in regulating other food processes. Vegetable fats and those of animal and only a small amount favorable when changing diet. The reason is they are more easily digested than the animal fats. The nutritive value is just as great while the flavor is more pleasing and palatable.

Too much salt retards uric acid and therefore too much salt will cause earache and other similar troubles. It must also be practically avoided in all rheumatic troubles. Too little salt is the cause of malnutrition, owing to deficient assimilation of food.

The salts contained in vegetables, cereals, etc., are not the same as common salt. The vegetable salts are chiefly phosphates and calciumates combined with potassium, calcium and magnesium.

Be careful to remember in any diet change that the salts contain no protein, as many people consider them nourishing.

SAN FRANCISCO. Defender of the "taproom" is Dr. J. H. Hildebrand, dean of men at the university and a consistent enemy of prohibition.

"Drinking of narcotics, either alone or in company, has nothing to do with prohibition," declares the dean. "Also I have visited the taproom and found the conversation very elevating."

London of lower Howard street transfers its business offices from the customhouse to interest of commercial houses. That of the city's parks also disappears, no one knows just where.

But democracy largely goes unaided the library. Here rules of silence force it to reading, gives it new historical value as it poses over eighty volumes, and new topics of serious conversation for the long standing monthly group.

San Francisco, not proud of its place as second among large cities in auto traffic fatalities, is again in the throes of "commotion."

Three remedial measures have been contemplated.

1. Engagement of a traffic engineer.

2. Organization of a schoolboy "traffic corps."

3. Erection of a billboard "monument" bearing a large city map in which will be indicated by red stars each place of an auto fatality. This, of course, is detrimental to worn drivers to be more careful.

Picture the Hall of Justice here, home of the city prison, police department and courts, alive with policemen, judges, court clerks and other human paraphernalia of the law. SUPPLY OF LIBERTY BONDS

One of the most important lessons in finance, industry, success, bonds, is the importance of the supply of Liberty bonds.

A heavy sinking fund is steadily reducing the various issues of government bonds outstanding, and the British government is purchasing Liberty bonds to pay its debt to the United States. This buying will eventually cause a large decrease in the supply of government bonds.

On the other hand, the demand for one who had had "meat to eat that he knew not of."

Gilchrist walked to the window, looked out a moment and then started to draw the shade.

The door swung open hurriedly and Pearl Henric, with a look of fright in her eyes, shouted to him excitedly:

"Mr. Gilchrist, don't stand by that window!"

Daniel looked at her a moment and then, with that strange tranquility that was his, turned and calmly drew down the shade.

The Warning

Almost trembling under the nervous tension of alarm, Pearl Henric watched Gilchrist, as in calm deliberation, he turned to the other window, peered out inquisitively, then drew its shade and walked easily toward her.

"Hello, Pearl," he said, surveying a freshly dressed girl of 25, dark, pretty, almost delicate. "How well you're looking." He went on. Then, quite casually, "What's the matter with the window?"

"It isn't safe," she said in a hoarse whisper.

Gilchrist smiled.

"Are you going to advise me to carry a pistol, too?" he asked.

"No, just keep out of sight of," she paused, almost afraid to mention the name.

"Of whom?" he inquired.

"Joe Henric," she said sharply.

"I thought Joe was in Black River."

"He isn't, though," she answered, still very nervous. "I told you, I was ashamed to go home. I told you he was gonna stay here and get you."

"Well," queried Daniel.

"Well—he stayed. I went to him—like I told you—and said it wasn't you—and ask him to take me back. And he said I was a liar and he was gonna get you. I told you all that."

"Yes, I guess you did."

"While he was working upstairs I didn't hear nothing about him," she continued. "But a little while ago he lost his job and began hangin' around down here. He's been drinkin' and talkin' wild, and I come in to Tuesday."

THE FOOL

BY CHANNING BOLLOCK

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Clare Jovett, in love with the Reverend Daniel Gilchrist, married Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is descended from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons.

"Overcoat him," a referee for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist, and apartments with baths for the poor are maintained. George Goodkind, Jerry's father, calls and orders Daniel to cease seeing Clare, who formerly visits the hall to help Gilchrist.

Max Margaret, a poor little cripple who helps Daniel with the work at "Overcoat Hall," she likes to hear Daniel tell the story of Cinderella.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"That's the very time to go on," he answered earnestly. "If we stop just because it doesn't work, that isn't faith."

No, I spoke not," she said. "And faith moves mountains," he continued. He paused a moment, looking at her benevolently. "Once upon a time," he said sharply, "there was a woman who'd been sick 12 years."

"What was the matter with her?" queried the girl, interested.

"I don't know. But there was a man in that city who said he could even make the dead rise. And everybody laughed at him—as they would today. But the woman didn't laugh, and one morning, when he was passing her house, she got up and followed him—just to touch the hem of his cloak. And what do you think?"

"I dunno," the girl said eagerly, leaning forward.

"She was cured," said Daniel. "And the man said—"

"I know," she interrupted. "The faith has made thee whole."

"That's right," he smiled. "Could God do that for me?" she asked seriously.

"Yes," he said with conviction. "It would be an awful big favor."

"But if He doesn't," Gilchrist put in, "you must go on. If faith doesn't heal our hearts, it helps us to bear them. And that's almost the same thing, isn't it?"

"Yes," she said, but with a trace of disturbing doubt.

"Like believing you're Cinderella," he smiled.

"Yes." This time she smiled a bit.

"We can't decide what we want and then be angry and doubtful because it doesn't happen our way," he continued. "Because all the time it's happening it's way. The only thing we can be sure of is that He knows what's best."

"That's right," she nodded. "You mean, if God wants me to be well, some day He'll make me well?"

"If you believe hard enough," he stressed.

"And if He doesn't?"

"Then that's right—if you believe hard enough," he answered.

The girl paused a moment, reflecting. She could not forget her twisted legs easily. They were real. They stop the took upon the substituting crutches was a reminder of them. But she was eager to believe what this man told her. She didn't understand why—Doubt and resentment were rising now and she put them down with quiet resolution.

Tailored Suit With Box Coat Prevailing Style for Early Spring

As the days begin to lengthen and the winds begin to strengthen, most women begin to grow weary of heavy coats and coats. Even though the thermometer is on the decline one feels inclined to meet spring more than half way.

The suit in place of the coat is very tempting indeed and there is definite indication that it is going to play an increasingly important role in the wardrobe of smartly dressed women. There are many more suits worn at the luncheon and tea hour this year than there were a year ago, or even in the autumn.

The simply tailored short jacket seems to be the preference of the hour and of this type of jacket the straight, smart, wrap-around skirt is the usual complement.

The fit in the ointment of the blouse of wearing a suit of this type is always the necessity of choosing accompanying blouse or blouses. And the effect of a suit can be made or marred by this choice.

Undoubtedly, the washable blouse is gaining favor; to some women this type of blouse seems the only appropriate accompaniment to the simple tailored suit. To them the picturesque blouse seems as inappropriate as snow in April. The choice of many distinguishing women, while others find nothing like better than the frilled linen or cotton or organdy.

When a frilled blouse is worn, nothing but the frill shows. The frill falls out at the side, but without, of course, any of the blouse showing over the collar of the jacket. For fashion is still both, apparently, to grant this bit of defiance to women. The woman who cannot endure the feeling of her jacket collar against her skin had better make experiments with one of the high-necked blouses or some of the frills which promise to be worn extensively this spring.

As spring advances the sports suits will become more and more popular. The influence of Mah Jongg is being seen more and more each day in the new sports suits for spring. There is no question about the feeling of the black and white. It is perhaps the most important combination of the season. Black and red is also being featured, and about red alone is much seen both for dresses and for hats. It is prophesied that red and white will prove one of the best combinations, but the entire red costume is too vivid for our taste.

The trend is toward the use of a blouse to make an impression. This season, as the jewel itself is nearly fashionable. All may not be emeralds that look green, but there are enough handbags and purses and synthetic stones to make a very good showing. Jewelers' windows and the fingers of model actresses who set styles influence the emerald costume.

Chinese blue holds its own remarkably well, and by the same token it is expected that yellow in the oriental shade will take a prominent position. Brown holds over, yielding a little to rosewood, café au lait, shell, and albed tones. Navy blue is often selected for suits and street dresses. Purple and mauve tones are considered good for afternoon and evening.

Business Man Sings Praises

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and gas continually. Doctors thought I had stomach ulcers or cancer. After last attack they advised going to Rochester, Minn., for an operation. A friend advised trying 'TANLAC'. Wonderful remedy, which I did and I cannot sing its praises too highly. As I can now eat anything and everything. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the stomach, cleanses from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes indigestion, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The fate which snatched a third-of-for cup from the lips of two women years ago now is serving it back to them—sweeter draught—for their own daughters to drink.

So it has come about that when ever either Claudia Muzio or Florence Macbeth is singing in the open here there stands in the wings the singer's dark-gowned, silent mother, listening joyfully to her voice.

Madame Muzio, one of the mothers, came of a musical family and gave promise of winning an operatic career as a girl in Italy. Then it became necessary to have an operation on her throat. She never sang again.

Mrs. Macbeth was a singer as a girl, too. It was in the harsh stern west of a generation ago, where her father had gone for his health, and the girl's voice received no advanced training. She appeared in village concerts and churches, then "unwashed and settled down."

In the stories of these mothers, living their ambitions over again in their daughters, there runs a moving parallel. "I am as busy in her dressing-room as her maid, and she knows I am inside her when she is on the stage. Yet I try to leave her free and to be only helpful."

Miss Muzio likewise has sung only once without her mother in the wings, and her mother then was in a dressing-room recovering from a fall.

The Italian star was brought up in the atmosphere of opera. Her mother was her first teacher. Her father was stage manager at Covent Garden, London; the Metropolitan

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO WALTER BURKE, CARE OF AMERICAN EXPRESS, CAIRO, EGYPT

MY DEAR BURKE: At your bank today they told me you could be reached at the above address. I am exceedingly anxious to know if you have any information as to the whereabouts of Harry Ellington. I have a hunch he is writing to some one in this city. If this is so I want to know it, because if I can find that second I intend to bring him back to America if possible with some of his "ill-gotten gains."

You would be doing me a great favor if you know anything about his present place of residence if you would let me know.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Opposite John Alden Prescott's Apartment PERSONAL APPEARANCE OF PAULA PERIERE

Everyone in town will want to see the famous moving picture, now at the Criterion Theater Friday and Saturday of this week.

GET YOUR SEATS NOW!
From the Monday Evening Express

The Criterion Theater management at great expense has persuaded Paula Periere, who has made such a phenomenal success in pictures, to visit the theater on Friday and Saturday nights of this week. Miss Periere, who is well known in this city, is a most beautiful model for the Acme Advertising company for two years, will be remembered as being called the prettiest girl in town. She has many friends and acquaintances here, and nearly everyone knows her at sight.

It is said that Miss Periere is more beautiful than ever, and it is more than probable her friends will enter to see her when she is here, on Friday and Saturday of this week.

The Acme Advertising company petitioned the city council to remove the billboard in front of the Ward Park apartment. Mr. Prescott, who represented the Acme company in the matter, insists that the advertisements displayed upon this board are gaudy and ugly, and are a source of nuisance to himself and his friends. Mr. Prescott's apartment agents directly upon this billboard telephone conversation. Between Mr. Carlton Smith and Ruth Ellington.

"That you, Ruth?"

"Have you seen the morning papers?"

"I have no time for reading newspapers, you know, Mrs. Smith."

"Well, I just wanted to ask you if you had seen Jack Prescott's position to have a billboard taken down from his apartment. Strange, it never bothered him until he found that Paula Periere's personal appearance was advertised on it. Isn't it a joke?"

"I don't know what you mean, Mrs. Smith."

"Well, I'm coming down to look over those neglected you are selling, and then will tell you all about it." (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

TOMORROW: Jack Prescott gets word from his mother—A confession and retraction.

MRS. T. S. WILEY, JR., AND little daughter, Mildred Margaret, of 1639 Stillwell boulevard are visiting Mrs. Wiley's sister, Mrs. P. A. Walls in San Antonio.

FADED COLORS
A little vinegar added to the same water will sometimes revive faded colors. The proportion should be about a spoonful to a quart of water.

GOLD LACE
To clean gold or silver lace sew it to a strip of clean cloth and boil in a solution of salt and water, one cup of salt to a gallon of water. When it has dried, without removing it from the cloth, sponge with white velvet dipped in alcohol.

TRIAL FOR WILSON SIMPLE

Thousands Watch As Small
Procession Moves By

head of the Episcopal diocese of Washington, opened a little chapel across the street to Mr. Wilson by a solemn service in a room of his "humble" house which Mr. Wilson treasured above all others, because he felt it linked him to the men he sent to war and whose sufferings he shared.

"The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms."

"And He shall show out the enemy from before thee."

"And shall destroy them."

This message was read from Deuteronomy, chapter 33, verse 27.

"Now unto Him that is able to keep you from falling and to make you perfect, blameless, and without fault, before the presence of his glorious Father, through Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom be all honor and glory, dominion and power, now and forever, Amen."

This from the 24th and 25th verses of Jude.

The benediction pronounced by Bishop Freeman ended the brief service in the home.

Soldiers Carry Biers

Then the strong arms of soldiers, salute and machine, picked up the casket Mr. Wilson commanded in the war days. After the coffin and bore it to the house outside.

Behind the body came the honorable bearers, former classmates and associates of the dead president. Theodore Cleveland H. Dodge, Cyrus H.
McCormick, Dr. E. P. Davis and Dr.
Hiram Woods of the Princeton class of 1879, in which Mr. Wilson graduated; Frank L. Polk, David F.
Houston, Newton D. Baker, Joseph
Daniels, Albert S. Burleson, John
Rarton Payne, William C. Ruffell,
E. T. Meredith, Thomas W. Gregory, members of Mr. Wilson's cabinet and Senators Swanson and Glass of Virginia, former Senator John Sharp
Williams of Mississippi, Representative Garrett of Tennessee and Charles
S. Hamlin of the Federal Reserve Board.

President and Mrs. Coolidge followed these and then came the wife of the two daughters, Miss Margaret
Wilson and Mrs. William G. McKim,
William G. McKim, Joseph Wilson,
William G. McKim, Joseph Wilson,
of Baltimore, a brother, John Han-dolph Bolling and Wilmer Bolling, brothers of Mrs. Wilson.

Thousands Stand Tear-Stricken

Outside, thousands had gathered and stood with bare heads in the rain. Tears were not withheld. Silently, without the roll of drum or the blare of brass, the body of the nation passed into the house of the little procession moved off to the little cathedral on the hill top.
Here and there along the route stood a little group of men around a altar.

When the End Came of Country's Greatest Private Citizen

PRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE AT WILSON HOME

Within an hour of Woodrow Wilson's death President and Mrs. Coolidge arrived at the Wilson home and left for the White House. The coffin was carried to the church by the Wilson home, accompanied by seven service men.

Choir in a low voice.

"Dixie is dying in the west, they say."

The Apostles were followed, and the whole congregation joined in repeating the Lord's Prayer. Prayers from the Episcopal ritual and the benediction ended the service. While the choir sang the recessional "The Stride Is Over, the Battle Done," President and Mrs. Coolidge led the way from the chapel and all the people followed.

Then, alone with their dead, the widow and the family said their last farewell. Workmen raised the hearse lab' facing the city.

"Ashes to ashes, dust to dust,"
said a voice.

The coffin sank into the cata-comb.

"Amen," said the bishop.
Woodrow Wilson was at rest.

Don't Neglect a Cold

Mothers, don't let colds get under you; at the first cough or sniffle rub
Musterole on the throat and chest.

Musterole is a pure, white cream, made with oil of mustard. It draws out congestion, relieves soreness, does all the work of the good old-fashioned mustard plaster in a gentler way, without the blister.

Keep a jar handy for all emergencies;
it may prevent pneumonia in your home.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in roller form for babies and small children.

OIL INCREASES IN PRODUCTION

10,000 Barrel Well at Hull Gulf Coast Feature

Simultaneously with advancing crude prices and increasing field activity, production figures for the week ended, show an upward trend. Approximately 13,000 more barrels of oil were recovered during the past eight days than during the preceding week. The total amount reported from all fields for the past week reached 1,913,788 barrels against 1,900,440 barrels for the previous eight days. Reports from all districts indicate that active preparations are being made for more or less extensive drilling campaigns to begin with early spring, and in a few instances, completion show that work is already picking up materially. This is especially true in the mid-continent area.

In Texas, Cordham-Powell is again on the increase. Production in this field was up about 3,000 barrels for the week. The most of this production came from an outside location on the southwest end of the field, which made a producer. This well was the Sims' oil company's H. B. Boyd 4, which drilled 34 feet of Woodliff sand pay to a total depth of 2,970 feet and was holding up to 3,000 barrels daily Sunday.

The outstanding event in the Gulf coast for the week was the Republic Production, located 7 1/2 miles from the coast in approximately 10,000 barrels at 2,970 feet and after flowing a few hours, increased to something like 12,000 barrels and is holding up at this figure. This well is located in the vicinity of Dolbear, and was caught fire early last summer and burned for nearly two weeks.

BANK CLEARINGS

A larger increase appears in bank clearings this week. An aggregate of $7,090,483.000 at leading centers of the United States showing a gain of 4.7 per cent over the amount reported to Dun's Review, a year ago and being 26.4 percent in excess of the figure for the period of 1922. With clearings of $2,701,463,000, the outside cities show an increase of only 1.5 per cent over the total of a year ago, but there is a gain of 33.1 per cent in comparison with the aggregate for this week of 1922. The largest increase over the figures of a year ago is one of 26.6 per cent at Atlanta, while the largest decrease is one of 27.0 per cent at Minneapolis. This week's clearing of $4,389,000,000 at New York City are 6.5 per cent in excess of those of a year ago and show a gain of 22.6 per cent over the amount for this period of 1922.

RECORD OF FAILURES

With a total of 453, failures in the United States this week show a decrease of 79 from the number reported to R. G. Dun & Co. last week and are 35 below the number two weeks ago. Comparing with the 511 defaults of this week of last year, there is a reduction of 58. The west is the only section of the country showing more insolvencies this week than last week, the increase being 24, and this change is much more than offset by decrease of 48 in the Pacific coast. A further slight reduction occurred in Canadiana defaults this week, the number being 61, against 67 last week and 71 two weeks ago. In this week of 1923, there were 32 insolvencies in Canada.

Blames His Father

"Thumpy" as the 57-year-old father of the slain girl is known, is said to have told James Abbott, an intimate friend, that his aged father killed Emma and that he would write it all down.

"My daddy did the job," Dickson said to Abbott, according to Frank J. Lora, county attorney. "He was going to kill me too so that he could get the $12,000 coming to Emma. He Planned It Well."

"After he killed her there was nothing for me to do but help him get rid of the body," the younger Dickson is alleged to have said. "He planned the murder so well he pulled the blinds down so I couldn't see what he was doing. Go put a sheet over your head and ask him who killed Emma. He will tell you."

Another Double Basketball Bill On Tap for City League Fans Tonight at Franklin Gym

Sensational Program Completed for Athletic Show Tonight

Mamos, Rogers Face Each Other as Gong Starts Second Bout Skill and Brawn Features Fort's Big Bill Tonight

Gulfie Crew and Yellow Jackets Line Up for Whirlwind Bout Friday Night When St. Edwards, Purple Invade City

Young Couch, Poulis, Young Zbyszko and Lewis Signed Up For Prelims as Seats Go Down for Another Will Fort Achievement

BY BILL ARCHER

WHEN the curtain rings up tonight in Elks theater, the spacious stage of the structure will present to Port City fandom an athletic card filled with spice and pep from the start.

Promoter Will Fort announced his program in full last night, and here it is to look at:

Stanley Rogers, 185 pounds, of Minot, N. D. versus Harry Mamos, 185 pounds, the pride of Boston, Mass. Finish, no-time-limit match.

Young Jesse Couch, 155 pounds of Port Arthur versus Mike Poulis, 175 pounds, of Alexandria, La. Exhibition match, 30 minutes.

Young Zbyszko, 95 pound marvel of Port Arthur, versus Young Straighter Lewis, 95 pounds, of Port Arthur. Fifteen minutes to a fall.

ANTICIPATE PACKED HOUSE
Indications are that Port will have a packed house to witness the card which the promoter has branded as one of his best programs. Rogers and Mamos are both in the city, and have been here for a day or so, looking the ground over and taking secret workouts of a light nature to wind up their training for the night.

Mamos comes to Port Arthur with an interesting record behind him. He started in the wrestling game some 13 years ago, and made his debut up around the city of Boston, where he was termed a prodigy in his youth. Strength and an indomitable will to learn the game put Mamos on numerous times "while he was still a kid" as the main attraction of eastern bouts.

CAME SOUTH RECENTLY
The Boston Greek came south about six months ago, and journeyed across the Gulf to Cuba, where he participated in several encounters, meeting some of the best boys in the game. His first appearance in Port Arthur was shortly after his return to the States from Cuba, when he met and defeated Mike Poulis in a finish match at Plaza Nat. Soon after he was beaten by Jones, the heavyweight artist of Houston, and later he lost a match to George Actor.

Fans who saw that contest, however, proclaimed Harry Mamos one of the nerviest Greeks they had ever seen in action, and agreed that he and Actor put on a real battle. Recently he has met such men as Clarence Eklund, the champion, to whom he lost a pair of issues.

ROGERS TEACHES WRESTLING
Rogers made his debut in the wrestling game while he was wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam's army. Rogers became an instructor in grappling, and when his time was up, he opened an athletic club in Minot, North Dakota, where he still holds sway and teaches the best tricks of the game.

Rogers claims one victory over George Actor, to whom he lost a bout here not long ago, and he claims a recent three hour draw with Billy Edwards at Enid, Okla., in a grudge match. Edwards is considered one of the best 185-pounders in the game next to Ad Santel and George Actor, and with Rogers claiming so long a stay with Edwards, he has pulled himself up to the par-limit of the best bet in the show.

MAIN BOYS MET BEFORE
Rogers and Mamos met last spring in Minot and wrestled 'till the cops called the battle off because of rough tactics being used. Their meeting tonight will be the second they have had since they got acquainted, and each is anxious for the referee to shout out the word: "Let's go."

Although no announcement has been made as to the officials who will preside in this evening's match, it is highly probable that Fort will use either Jack Burns, Red Lyons or Vic Miller as a third man in the ring.

AN "IMPORTED LINGUIST"
Gale Banks, the "imported linguist" who makes a specialty of making announcements, cold-blooded and otherwise, and who usually adds a bit of color to the program with his remarks will be in his favorite role of official announcer this evening.

Rogers and Mamos were full of confidence when seen this morning. Here's the way they look at it:

"Sure, it's going to be a tough battle, but I'm going to pour it on Mamos tonight," the Minot giant declared, while Mamos said: "Just say that I'm ready and never felt better in my life for a mill. I don't think Rogers has a chance."

STANLEY ROGERS

HARRY MAMOS

Flashy artists of the wrestling game who tangle up, hero to night in Elks theater in a finish, no-time-limit match. Promoter Will Fort pronounces this one of the best cards he has signed up.

Good!

Mr. Joseph Ray, Admits It, and, What's More, Will Prove It

JOSEPH RAY

ASKED to center his training efforts on the 1924 Olympic team in the coming Olympic year, Mr. Ray, colorful Chicago manager, answered: "Sure, why not? That will be a cinch for me."

Mr. Ray is one of those rare souls who believe implicitly in their sales.

Mr. Ray is not quite so arrogant or cocky as his remarks might lead listeners to suspect, but one thing he does not lack in any detail is confidence.

Walker Real Star Manager Art Fletcher of the Philadelphia Outfielder Curt Walker, secured from the Giants, as a better man than any New York fielder with the exception of Young.

Worried About Rigney Manager Cobb of Detroit is worried over reports from Texas that Shortstop Rigney is having his trouble that may handicap his play, possibly keep him out of the game for some time.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—One of the big disappointments of 1923 to Manager Bill Killefer of the Chicago Cubs was the poor showing of Pitcher Osborne. Banked on to be a big winner he had a bad year.

During the latter part of the 1922 campaign Osborne appeared to have arrived with a vengeance. He won nine of 14 games and his great pitching in the city series with the White Sox enabled the Cubs to win one of the few triumphs they have ever scored over the Chicago Americans.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, stopped Jack Douglas, New York in the first round. The referee stopped the contest.

The First Division
When Donie Bush, the mite manager, brought Washington into fourth place last season, he turned a trick that the Nationals have only accomplished on six other occasions. For in all the years that the capital hamlet has had a team in the American league, it has landed in the select section, just seven times. Three seasons it has finished in fourth place, two in third and two in second. Like the St. Louis Browns, Washington has yet to annex its first pennant.

The International league batting averages reveal the fact that the first four batters were left handers. The first 10 leaders were evenly divided.

Nationals Lack Southpaws
Clarke Griffith became the lack of southpaws on his Washington club. The veteran George Mogridge is the only dependable and he can only stand a limited amount of work.

Will Not Try Pitching
George Sizer ridicules the idea that he intends to take up big league pitching again. Sizer says that if his eye trouble makes it impossible for him to perform at first, he is through with the playing end of the game.

By TAB
"The Yellow Jackets are ready to give Beaumont a real drubbing," quoted an enthusiastic member of the squad this morning, giving us the "low-down" on the double bill in Franklin gym Friday evening when the Gulf team meets St. Edwards and the local high school squad clashes with the purple.

And likewise, Coach Todda Forbes is rounding his promises into trim for the battle against the "Notre Dame of the South" preparing to cop the opening clash of the two-game series, and then take the last one for luck.

St. Edwards has one of the strongest basketball teams in the south. They have won so many games, and have such a good leader, who once donned the uniform of Notre Dame, that the contingent has come to be known as the "Notre Dame of the South." Their record shows but two defeats in two entire years, and that's quite a record.

The Gulf crew has come out of the hinks, and is looking better than it ever did before. With the return of Country Kelley and Todda Forbes to the lineup, the perspective of the organization presents decidedly a better view for Skipper J. M. Pickett, who declared today that irrespective of the strength of St. Edwards, his proteges will be in good shape for the battle and confident of winning.

The Yellow Jackets and the Beaumont Purple will play the initial game of the evening and the Gulf-St. Edwards teams will take the floor later, giving the fans a double treat all for the price of one game.

ST. LOUIS FEARS SHOCKER GONE

Signed Contract Does Not Dispell Doubts

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—Despite the fact that Urban Shocker, star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, has signed his contract, there is a feeling that he will not be with the local team this year.

Withdrawal of the suit on the part of Shocker was made possible by the intervention of Bobby Quinn, who formerly handled the affairs of the St. Louis club, but who is now president of the Boston Red Sox.

President Quinn of the Boston Red Sox came on to Chicago for a conference with Shocker and President Johnson. It took only a short time to settle the matter, Shocker withdrawing his petition to Landis and signing a St. Louis contract.

It is questionable, however, if the ill-feeling between Shocker and the management of the Browns has been erased. It may be, but he wouldn't be a very valuable man for the club.

Local fans fear that Quinn, in signing Shocker, was feathering his own nest and that the sale of Shocker to Boston is a possibility of the immediate future.

Will Not Try Pitching
George Sizer ridicules the idea that he intends to take up big league pitching again. Sizer says that if his eye trouble makes it impossible for him to perform at first, he is through with the playing end of the game.

YMBL TO SELL BALL TICKETS

Weddell Urges City Fans to Support St. Joe

Asserting that tickets for the St. Joseph baseball exhibitions here during March will go over the top, if Port Arthur fans stick to the YMBL, and declaring that the YMBL is going to do everything in their power to make the St. Joe visit so interesting they will not want to train anywhere else, George Weddell, recognized as one of the biggest ball fans in the city, said this morning that YMBL officials are arranging plans to launch a mammoth ticket sale here within the immediate future.

"St. Joe is coming to town on the third of March, and they plan to sejour in our midst about 30 days," Weddell asserted. "We made them a flat guarantee and the only way we have of meeting that guarantee and coming out even is in obtaining the undivided support of every citizen interested in baseball."

Port Arthur YMBLers have been given the entire proceeds of two exhibition games here with Beaumont, on the 15th and 16th of March.

"And if that don't put 'em away," Joe Mathias, skipper of the club, said in his recent visit here, "then we'll give 'em another game, because we like Port Arthur and want to train here."

NO REPLIES TO OLYMPIC PLEA

Only $7,000 of Budget for $350,000 is Subscribed

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The American Olympic committee, which is trying to raise $350,000 to send 350 athletes abroad this summer, has collected only $7,000 thus far and the response of the sportsmen of the country has been disappointing.

Newark and Philadelphia each contributed $2,500 and Tuesday, Albany sent $300 and the New York City Club of New York turned in $130.

"We have heavy obligations, and must ask the public to make its contributions as soon as possible," said Major General Henry T. Allen, executive officer in charge of the committee.

AQUATIC STARS CHANGE RECORD

Women's Olympic Trials on in Florida Waters

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 6.—Several new records were established here yesterday in the women's Olympic trials, in which leading aquatic stars of the country are participating.

Alice Cochery, Metropolitan breast stroke champion, beat the former mark of 3:27 2-5 by 12 2-5 for 300 yards.

Gertrude Ederle, holder of records for a number of dashes set a new 150 round free style record in 1:44 1-5. She held the former record of 1:45 made in Bermuda in 1922.

Efforts will be made today to establish a new 50 meter record and Yvonne Egan will go after a new 100-yard backstroke record.

Sluggers for Athletics

In Max Bishop, secured from Baltimore, Connie Mack adds another slugger to the Athletics. Bishop, with 22 home runs, tied Webb of Buffalo for circuit swat honors.

Yancey Starts South

"Daddy" Yancey, strikout king of the National league, is the first ball player to start south. The Brooklyn twister is en route to Florida in his "flier." His destination is Clearwater, where the Dodgers will train. Due to the uncertainties of touring in a "flier" Yancey believes in getting an early start.

DRAFT PROBLEM PUZZLES CLUBS

International League to Meet Next Monday

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—As the draft question is usually discussed wherever baseball men gather, it may be brought up at the meeting of the International League here next Monday, John Conway Tool, president of the league said here today.

He declared he had no information to indicate there would be a fight among his club members.

Osborne's Poor

Showing Fatal to Cubs' Chances

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—One of the big disappointments of 1923 to Manager Bill Killefer of the Chicago Cubs was the poor showing of Pitcher Osborne. Banked on to be a big winner he had a bad year.

During the latter part of the 1922 campaign Osborne appeared to have arrived with a vengeance. He won nine of 14 games and his great pitching in the city series with the White Sox enabled the Cubs to win one of the few triumphs they have ever scored over the Chicago Americans.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, stopped Jack Douglas, New York in the first round. The referee stopped the contest.

"Mother Goose," said the Riddle Lady next day when the crowd had gathered in Riddle Town to hear the new riddle. "I don't want you to get offended at my riddle today. Will you please not?"

"Is it about me?" asked Mother Goose in surprise.

"Not exactly," laughed the Riddle Lady, and then saying "Excuse me," to everybody, she whispered something in Mother Goose's ear. Then Mother Goose laughed, and the Riddle Lady laughed, and they both laughed.

"Go right ahead," declared Mother Goose, winking at Nancy. "Don't mind me."

"Now for the riddle," said the Riddle Lady. "I suppose you are all tired of waiting:

"Get out of my way, get out of my way. Doesn't everyone know that it's sweeping day? I rush and I run and I spread out my skirt. And shoo from my feet every wee scrap of dirt.

"I live in the corner beside the back door. I never sit down, I just stand on the floor. When I spr muddy footprints, or breadcrumbs, or dust, Then out I go rushing, it just seems I must.

"I'm very old fashioned—I've simply no style. And I'm quite a homely body, but once in a while

They take me and dress me in old ragged clothes And leave me outside just to scare away crows. Sometimes in the winter when snow's lying deep, I clear away paths, and I sweep and I sweep. And the boys make a snow man, then shrieking with fun, They seize me and give me to him for a gun.

"Old Mother Goose rides me up to the sky. And when we come back in the sweet bye and bye. The first thing I do is to have sweeping day. It's dreadful how dirt gathers when one's away.

"But I don't like it outdoors. I much prefer in. To all the places that I've ever been. To sweep is my hobby. I love a clean floor. Then slip to my corner beside the back door."

"It's a broom," said Nancy quickly. She had to be quick, for nearly all of the Riddle Land people had guessed it, too, and shouted it out at the top of their lungs.

"Right!" said the Riddle Lady. "And the prize is a ride with Mother Goose on her magic broom. You may start at once and take Nick with you. But be sure to be back by tomorrow."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE
By Uncle Ray

CHAPTER 104
HOW HERA OUTWITTED ZEUS

Poor jealous Hera! Her life must have been one fit of anger after another. The pretty dandies and nymphs with whom Zeus flirted were almost without number. On one occasion, however, the goddess outwitted her husband.

Zeus was paying his attention to a beautiful young priestess named Io.

Afraid that his wife might see, he raised a cloud between himself and Mount Olympus.

When Hera noticed the cloud, she became suspicious.

"I'll wager," she said, "that Zeus is making love to some worthless woman of the earth. I'll go down and see."

Zeus noticed her approach, and changed Io into a calf. Hera could not be angry because her husband was petting a calf; but still she suspected something had been done to fool her.

"What a beautiful calf you have there," she said. "Won't you let me keep it under my care?"

Zeus feared to refuse. Hera led Io away and placed her in charge of Argos, a giant with a hundred eyes. Argos let the calf graze during the day, and at night tied her up.

One day Io's father came to the pasture in which she was browsing.

The giant saw him, ran to the spot and took Io away.

Zeus looking on, was moved with pity. He sent Hermes to Argos. The messenger god, with music and words, lulled all the hundred eyes of the giant to sleep. Hermes then slew Argos, and freed Io. She remained a young "bosy," however.

Hera then sent a clasp of earth to corrupt her rival. Poor Io ran far and wide, swimming over seas and rivers, to escape the stings.

When she reached Egypt, Zeus begged Hera to be merciful. After making him promise not to flirt with Io any more, she permitted the calf to be changed back to the lovely young woman of former times.

The Ioian sea, according to the Greeks, was named after Io. (Copyright, the John F. Dille Co.)

Color Cut-Outs A Dutch Boy Comic

"and I know how to make a dandy Dutch Boy of Hearts." Then she began cutting little hearts. And she began with white paper. When she had enough made, she traced some of the sheets and came on red. She posted them together to make the boy you see here.

The heart for the Dutch Boy's trousers is blue, the heart for his jacket and sleeves, red; his face yellow and his cap blue. You may make a Dutch Boy either by cutting out these hearts, coloring and mounting them on cardboard, or cutting your own the size you like. A cardboard strip pasted on the back will make him stand up. His eyes are spots of blue, his mouth a tiny red heart.

Tomorrow you'll learn to play a valentine fortune game and how to make a candy dish.

THEY END HONEYMOON TO STRAIGHTEN TANGLE

PARIS, Feb. 6.—After three weeks of consultation with American authorities here, Claude Bosse, former Omaha, Nebraska, city clerk and his companion, Emma Wamsley, decided they cannot have a honeymoon in Italy after all and sailed abroad the Canadian steamship for the United States to straighten out their matrimonial tangle.

They also disclosed that their marriage, to which Bosse's first wife took exception, causing disruption of the couple's plans and cancellation of their passports when they reached Cherbourg, had been solemnized at Lawrence, Kansas, not Denver, Colo., as they had at first stated.

Supplies for fishermen, as well as bathers and picnickers, will be kept in the new club house by Captain Henry, and he also expects a fleet of motor boats for fishermen who want to go out of the end of the jetty for tarpon fishing. Residents said the stretch of sandy beach west of the jetties is a good place for any on the coast, and a strong surf is usually felt in the time.

LOCAL SHIPPERS PROTEST RULE

Ask I. C. C. Hearing on Spotted Car Charge

The Chamber of Commerce traffic department has filed a request with the Interstate Commerce commission asking that a new rule be proposed by carriers, seeking to charge for interruptions on spotted cars left on joint industrial tracks, be withheld, and that the carriers' proposals be set down for hearing before the I. C. C.

This was the assertion made by Frank Potts this morning, who pointed out that the carriers have proposed a rule asserting that: "No allowance will be made for delay in placing or for interruption in loading or unloading cars consigned or ordered to a siding used by two or more shippers, or consignees, when such delay or interruption is attributable to such joint use of the siding, except that due allowance will be made if a car displaced in switching is not replaced when switching is completed."

The carriers propose that this rule

NEW ATRECO RATE IS SAVING

Two-Thirds Reduction Allowed Shippers

A new rate on freight between Port Arthur and Atreco has been obtained through activities of Frank Potts, traffic manager for the Chamber of Commerce, that will net the shippers an approximate saving of 66 2/3 per cent. It was learned today that the Kansas City Southern has granted Potts' request, according to a charge of $11 per car between the two points, this charge representing a switching charge.

The Texas railway commission has notified both the Kansas City Southern and Mr. Potts that permission has been granted for publication of the new rates, which will probably be contained in the next issue of the publication. Pending publication, the date the new charge becomes effective has not been made public.

Formerly, a distance rate applied on the shipments between the two
